NATIVE EVERGREENS

Hardy, native northern-grown evergreens are best. They will withstand severe winter weather, wind and sun much better than stock grown in a warmer climate.

All trees are carefully collected, well rooted, and protected from wind and sun. To reach you in perfect condition these are puddled in clay and packed in sphagnum moss.

FERNS

Of special interest to the Fall fern purchaser: These ferns are shipped in boxes or barrels, packed in sphagnum moss. If stored in a cool cellar they will keep in a fresh condition through the winter, thus they may be handled with practically no overhead.
